

Judson Brandeis, MD
*Board Certified Urologist,
Surgeon and Expert in Male Sexual Health*

Dr. Judson Brandeis is pleased to announce the opening of the Bay Area’s first Urology Male Performance (PUMP) Center to provide GAINSwave Shockwave Therapy for Erectile Dysfunction and Peyronies Disease. Shock wave therapy is a non-invasive treatment that helps men regain sexual function with an office procedure that takes 20 minutes and is not painful. After six weeks of treatment, 80% of ED patients show significant improvement in sexual function and quality of life. Dr. Brandeis also offers regenerative treatments for ED, like the P-shot and Stem Cell Injection.

The PUMP Center provides a comfortable setting where men can address their personal desires for improved intimacy with confidence and privacy.

Dr. Brandeis has been recognized by SF Magazine as a top urologic surgeon in the Bay Area for the past 4 years, and is Chief of Urology for both John Muir Hospital and Hill Physicians. He specializes in the no-scalpel vasectomy and has performed over 3000 of these procedures. He has recently appeared on “The Doctors” TV show and the Ben Greenfield Fitness podcast. As a national thought leader, Dr. Brandeis will be presenting his initial findings to the Sexual Medicine Society meeting in Miami in November.

Join the hundreds of other men who have improved the quality of their lives at the PUMP Center through innovative enhancement procedures.
